FORTY LEGISLATORS
WIGGLING IN NET
LAID BY GRAND JURY

Probe Tackles Bribery Charges This Morning With Evidence of Pay Dirt on All Sides. Offers of Testimony Come From Heads of Various Organizations.

WITNESSES ON HAND

State Officials, Assemblymen, Lobbyists and Newspaper Men—Attorney General Hogan, Who Will Prosecute, Declares Immunity Will Not Be Permitted—Turner Receives Many Offers to Testify From Various Parties.

Columbus, O., May 2.—The Franklin county grand jury met this morning to begin the official investigation of the charges of bribery preferred against members of the general assembly. A large number of witnesses, including members of both houses, legislative attaches, detectives and newspaper men were on hand. All sworn to secrecy, as have other witnesses before the grand jury.

It is possible that the first indictments will be returned today. William J. Burns, head of the detective agency that uncovered the graft, arrived here early this morning.

Prosecutor Turner has a list of witnesses to call which will keep the jury for many days. Officers of organizations interested in legislation before this assembly will be asked to tell what they know or to hold them up by members.

Many Offer to Testify. Offers to testify have come from corporations and companies in Cincinnati and Cleveland. Corporation have tendered testimony regarding alleged holdups which the grand jury has not delved into. Officers also will be summoned. It is reported that at least one of a state department was asked for a bribe to expedite the passage of a bill of interest to his constituents.

It means all the evidence turned up to be disclosed was under the Burns operatives. The program included investigation of something like members of the legislature.

DETECTIVES LOQUACIOUS

They Have Evidence to Convict Twenty Legislators. Columbus, O., May 2.—"If they had another week, we would run out of money," is the language of F. A. Harrison, one of the detectives employed by the business men to run down grafters in both branches of the general assembly. According to him, between 15 and 20 members will be implicated in the bribery brought out by the arrest of the legislators on warrants sworn by Dr. George B. Nye of Pike county, who alleged that he had been paid by the detectives, who as lobbyists, to oppose one and another measure.

Detectives say that in their investigations they have learned of other members who have been pulled off during the present session of the legislature. Bills which were passed and which were killed by the detectives. All of this evidence is in shape to present to the grand jury, and so sure are they of ground that they say: "Before the session is over, they'll be failing each other to get to the prosecutor's office to tell him all they know, just like they did in Pittsburgh. The general price of votes, it is estimated, was $300, except for the ring leaders who passed out the money. They were given larger sums for "assistance" and for peddling the money. But the price of the vote was $200. Twenty-five members of the house had to be handled with money, according to the information the detectives say they received. The others could be "whipped into line."

HOW PROBE STARTED.

Columbus, O., May 2.—Columbus business men, disgusted at the frequent demands for money from crooked legislators, are responsible for the big graft probe of the legislature now on. They early declared it impossible to secure honest legislation without resort to bribes, and the formation of an anti-graft pool was the result. It is understood that Charles Preitzman, president of the Columbus chamber of commerce, was placed in charge of the fund to fight the grafters. He consulted County Prosecutor Turner and a decision was reached to trap the crooked assemblymen. Preitzman secured the services of the William J. Burns detective agency. Burns was instructed to spare no expense in getting to the bottom of the crookedness and to secure evidence against both bribers and bribe-takers.

There will be no legislative investigation, in all probability. The laws are such that an immunity bath may be claimed by those who testify before a legislative committee, and to this the detectives are opposed. They need no confessions, they say. Opposition to the plan has also grown up in the house and senate, and nothing will be done, in all probability, until the grand jury has acted, at least.

The detectives claim they will convict Dr. Nye, the Pike county representative who caused their arrest, in spite of that move on his part. They point out that they paid Dr. Nye his first $100 about April 1, and that he did not turn any money over to Speaker Vinson until last Thursday; and then not until he had become suspicious.

Columbus, O., May 2.—Suspecting for the first time that he himself might have been used as a tool, Samuel J. Vinson, speaker of the house, conferred with the three Burns detectives, Messrs. Harrison, Berry and McElroy, and told them without hesitation every detail of the occurrences that led up to the bribery charges

President Taft Selects His Tennis Cabinet; Experts Are Headed by French Ambassador.

Digging down into the archives of the history of the Rooseveltian age, President Taft brought forth the rules and regulations for organizing a "tennis cabinet." These digested, he looked over the roster of the gladiators of the old days and then proceeded to organize a "tennis cabinet" of his own. The new athletic family is composed of one of the premiers of the old cabinet and three recruits. The members are: J. J. Jusserand, the French ambassador; Assistant Secretary of the Navy Beekman Winthrop, Assistant Secretary of the Treasury James F. Curtis, whose pictures are reproduced herewith, and Chairman of the Tariff Board Henry C. Emory.

UNDERWOOD FINDS A

Jeffersonians Inflamed With Influence and the Possibilities of Canadian Reciprocity Are Determined to Put Raw Wool on the Free List.

PARTY LEADER SAYS NAY

Points to Indiana, Ohio, Nebraska and Other Sheep-Raising States Where Seeds of Democracy Are Beginning to Sprout, and Declares Prospects of Victory in 1912 Will Be Damaged—Anderson Adds to Troubles by Pushing Pension Bill.

Washington, May 2.—Serious dissension in the ranks of the Democratic party in congress is threatened as the result of a situation which has developed in the house of representatives in connection with the proposal to amend the wool schedule of the tariff law. Nine of the 14 Democratic members of the ways and means committee are determined to report a wool bill which will admit the raw product duty free. The five members of the committee opposed to raw wool are led by Chairman Underwood.

While Speaker Clark has not up to date attempted to dictate to the leaders of the house membership in matters of legislation, he is taking a lively interest in the deliberations of the committee over the wool bill. He has expressed the opinion to members of the committee that the party will make a serious blunder if it passes a bill containing a free raw wool provision.

Messrs. Clark and Underwood have pointed out to the majority in the ways and means committee that if the Democratic house commits itself to free raw wool, Ohio, Indiana, Nebraska and other woolgrowing states which are now veering toward Democracy will be lost to the party in the next presidential election. They have argued further that raw wool is which were made against the detectives by Representative Nye.

The conference showed by the statements of the detectives to the speaker, that Representative Nye had told them that the speaker could be bought for $1,000. It showed further that the speaker never actually saw the money which Mr. Nye said he turned over to the speaker, but that the speaker saw only the outside of the envelope and that the envelope now reposes in the safe of Clerk

Kempel of the house of representatives. It developed also that Dr. Nye, according to the speaker, had solicited membership on the steering committee.

The speaker showed hot anger when told by the detectives that Nye had said he could be bought for $1,000.

"That was an absolute lie," he said.

clamoring for a $40,000,000 pension bill. Leader Underwood has come to the conclusion that he will have his hands very full before getaway day rolls around.

Seven speeches were made on the free list bill in the house. Representatives Moss and Cox of Indiana and Rucker of Colorado, Democrats, spoke for the bill. Longworth of Ohio, Madden of Illinois and Dyer of Missouri made speeches in opposition. Representative Madden injected some annexation talk into his speech. He said he believed close commercial relations with Canada would tend to a political union. He said he favored annexation.

GIVES DETECTIVES THE LAUGH

Says He Is "Schmidt" For Whom Sleuths Are Searching Throughout the West, but That He Intends Sojourning in Europe Until Unpleasantness Blows Over—Will Then Return and If McNamaras Are Convicted Will Avenge Them.

Los Angeles, Cal., May 2.—General counsel for the Structural Iron Workers of America, Leon M. Rappaport, arrived here to look after the interests of the men accused of dynamiting the Times building. John D. Frederick, district attorney, received a letter threatening him with death if he prosecuted the McNamaras. On a report to be made to Clarence Darrow by Rappaport will depend whether Darrow will come to Los Angeles. Darrow is still anxious, apparently, to keep out of the case owing to poor health.

In preparation for the varied activities of the defense offices in the Higgins building have been engaged, and before the trial is ended the entire floor may be in use. Detectives are being put out by the defense to watch those on the other side and to gather whatever may be obtainable that will weaken the case Detective Burns has worked up.

Mailed in New York. The threat of death received by the district attorney was contained in an envelope postmarked "Times Square, New York, April 26." "M. J. Schmidt," sender of a similar threat to Detective Burns, signed it, and the letters are similar in tenor. With much of the abuse of capitalists, detectives, police, etc., eliminated, it reads:

"Mr. Frederickson, District Attorney, Los Angeles:

"The McNamara brothers are expected in Los Angeles today to face an accusation of which they are innocent, because I am the one who set the bomb and the Burns detectives are looking for me, but they are not smart enough to catch me.

"They were paid a large sum of money for their work by the capitalists, so they had to pinch somebody, but you can be sure that John J. McNamara is entirely innocent.

"The smart Burns detectives are looking for me in the west, but I am in New York and tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock sail for Europe, but when this trouble is over I am coming to this country, and let me assure you that if the McNamaras are convicted, I will avenge them. I am an all-around machinist and clockmaker by trade and can make any kind of an explosive myself, without the aid of anybody, and will kill you and Burns like a dog, as I know both of you personally."

Mrs. Ortie E. McNamara will come to Los Angeles and will be a witness in corroboration of the testimony her husband will give regarding his dealings with John J. McNamara. The prosecution will show by her, it claims, that letters to be offered in evidence came from John J. McNamara, although he did not sign them.

Fire Loss Reduced.

Bangor, Me., May 2.—Between $250,000 and $300,000 will cover the financial loss of the fire which destroyed approximately 285 residences and about 100 business structures in this city. Most of those who lost property are well-to-do and only 75 families were reported destitute.

BUSINESS DONE BY HALF OF COUNCIL

Rothrock Digs Viciously Into Our Antiquated Light System.

Refuses to Vote for More Old style Lamps---Appeal of Suburbs for City Duds Met With Poverty Plea---Council Fails to Enthuse Over Philadelphia House Numbering Plan. Treasurer DeWees and Sprinkler Flint Anxious to Locate About $800, Which Seems to Have Been Drowned---Big "Doin's" Coming Thursday.

Only four councilmen were present at the regular monthly meeting Monday night. President Millikan, Shoop, McLellan and Goodwin were absent. Notwithstanding this, a busy session resulted. Councilman Rothrock was in the chair, and the lobby was crowded with citizens who were interested in securing various acts of legislation.

The citizens were given permission to be heard, and Tom Clancey, of Green street was first to respond, calling attention of Council to a water hydrant on Green street that was filled with mud and a menace to the safety of the neighborhood. If fire should occur, the need of sidewalk improvement was also mentioned, and both matters were referred to the Service Director, who is to report at the next meeting, Thursday night of this week.

Seth E. Parrett asked that Wesley Chapel on Sunny Side be allowed to tap the city sewer free of charge, stating that a new furnace had been installed and that the cellar furnace room could not be drained otherwise, and during wet periods was flooded with water. The permission was granted.

Oliver Flint called attention of Council to the need of water, light, and protection in the English addition, stating that since that part of the city had been annexed the citizens were entitled to better accommodations. Chairman Rothrock in response told Mr. Flint that nothing could be done until the next appropriation is made, and that Council was aware of the existing conditions and would take up the work just as quickly as possible, but it would require time.

R. C. Peddicord, as member of the Y. M. C. A. Board, spoke of the need of a new sewer in the second ward so constructed that it would drain the Y. M. C. A. swimming pool. It seems the Market street sewer is entirely too shallow for this purpose, and that a new sewer several feet deeper will be required. Just where to locate the sewer, or whether to locate it at all will be taken up later. On motion, however, the Service Committee and Service Director were ordered to investigate the proposed new sewer, also the one on North street which should be the beginning of a sanitary trunk sewer; one in the rear of the Parrett and Barnett groceries and also one on Green street. These will be reported upon at the next meeting.

An ordinance, submitted but not read, calling for the numbering of all houses in the city, and designating John W. Byron as the man to do the work and that no number should cost less than 50c, etc., etc., was submitted to Council. This will be taken up later, but it is hardly probable that such an ordinance will be deemed in place at this time. The system proposed by Mr. Byron in the ordinance is known as the "Philadelphia system" and all houses would be numbered north and south from Court street, and east and west from Main street. It calls for the repeal of an ordinance passed October 21,

A petition to improve John street, between the intersection of Broadway and to a point east of Grove avenue, was referred to the Service Committee.

tee. The Gerstner ordinance calling for improvement of North Fayette street, was also referred to the same committee.

The question of street lights came up. This is always a ticklish question, because of an apparent feeling of dissatisfaction with the present state of affairs. Service Director Anders stated that the "new" lights had been put up, but the light on South Fayette street had not been moved because of remonstrance against moving it. Member Veall tried to tell why the light should be moved, and why the light on South Main street at Newberry should remain where it is. Mr. Veall became so enthused over more light that he made a motion to have a "new" light placed at the intersection of Main and Oak streets. Mayor Allen protested against such action, calling attention to the need of lights in the new additions. Chairman Rothrock brought his fist down on the movement and asked: "Do you want to put up more of the old style lamps at $60 apiece? We have enough of these old lights, and I won't vote for putting up another one of them!" he continued.

The need of enclosed arc lights was mentioned, and also that these later improved lamps should have been installed instead of the five antiquated lamps just put up as "new" lights. It is claimed that the old "20-year-ago" model is what the franchise calls for, and the city must take its medicine like a nice little fellow.

A street sprinkling ordinance calling for the sprinkling of Market between Forest and Walnut streets was given to the Service Director to act upon. The ordinance fixing the empowering the Service Director to pay $4 per day for teams could not be passed for lack of the two-thirds vote, and was allowed to slumber until the next meeting.

H. C. Coffman, of the Coffman Lumber Co., made application for another ordinance permitting the C. & M. V. railroad to lay a switch across Sycamore street into the lumber yards. Several months ago an ordinance granting the company the right to do this was passed, but the provision was made that the tracks, unless kept in good repair, could be torn up at the end of each year. The railroad company refused to accept this ordinance, and a new one was prepared, but not read. It will come up later.

Mayor Allen stated that the annual budget was almost ready to file, and would be filed Thursday night, as there were a few details to work out yet.

Chairman Rothrock asked City Solicitor Rankin concerning the methods used in Columbus for levying street improvement assessments, and was informed that the method in Columbus and this city were practically the same. Member Veall asked the City Solicitor why the amount paid in for sewer taps could not go into the sewer department of the Service Fund. This had not been thoroughly investigated, but an investigation will be made and report made at the next meeting.

City Treasurer DeWees addressed Council regarding the sprinkling assessments, mentioning the fact that nearly $800 of the last year assessment had not been collected or paid to the Flint for sprinkling the streets. Treasurer DeWees wanted to know what to do with the account.

M'BEE'S VICTIM IN PRECARIOUS CONDITION

Ralph West, the Jeffersonville youth who was perhaps fatally stabbed by Jesse McBee Saturday night while the latter was under the influence of liquor, still remains in a very serious condition, being watched over and administered to by his loved ones.

His condition is expected to change for the worse or better Thursday or Friday of this week. One of the knife and evidently was at a loss whether he was "going or coming".

Mr. DeWees took occasion to remark that an attempt had been made to shed light on the matter by "the editor" but not a particle of light was shed, and that the report "was all wrong". The reporter who was seeking information on the tangle claims that the treasurer informed him that the amount due Oliver Flint & Son was "less than $200" when in reality it was nearly $800. In justice to Mr. DeWees, however, it may be said that he later discovered his mistake and filed with this paper a correct statement of the amount due the Flint.

Mr. DeWees asked how he could get rid of the tangle, and was laughingly told that the only way would be to resign. Chairman Rothrock stated that in his opinion the only thing to do was for Mr. Flint to proceed with suit against those who had not paid the sprinkling assessment. Another opinion is that Treasurer DeWees will have to enter suit for collecting the amounts. Mr. Flint stated that the delinquents had been notified to pay the amounts to Treasurer DeWees.

The mere fact that Treasurer DeWees is to be paid, or is to collect the accounts, would indicate that he should consult the City Solicitor and get busy, if it is held that he should collect the accounts.

Council adjourned until Thursday night, when probably the largest number of ordinances ever submitted at one time, will be taken up.

GROCERY CHANGES HANDS

Mr. E. M. Moore has sold his Court street grocery to Mr. A. Merritt, of Greenfield, who expects to take possession shortly. Mr. Moore has been a courteous and reliable grocer and turns over a good class of trade.

Mr. Merritt and family have moved from Greenfield to this city and are occupying one of the new houses of Mr. John E. Green on Yeoman St.

Refuse Collectors Are Ready

The Wonder Manufacturing Company has completed a dozen large refuse or rubbish receptacles to be placed at the important street corners for the reception of all rubbish, usually consigned to the gutters and to litter the streets.

These receptacles, which are made of galvanized steel, will be distributed within the next day or two, and will mean cleaner and more sanitary streets.

Bold Thief Makes Daylight Robbery

Tuesday morning between 8 and 9 o'clock some unknown man entered the barn of Attorney Taylor Barger on Clinton avenue and walked off with a purse belonging to Mrs. Barger, and also a splendid set of china berry dishes. In addition to this it was later discovered that a gold watch belonging to Mrs. Barger, which had been left in the purse, was among the missing articles.

The articles had been left in the automobile and it is supposed that a tramp passed by, entered the barn and walked off with the articles. Mr. Barger, assisted by the police, has been searching for the thief, but so far their efforts have been fruitless.

The Judge Knew Mules

"YOU are charged," said the judge, "with cruelty to animals. The policeman who arrested you says that he never saw such a human conduct as yours."

"It seems that you tore a board off a fence and belabored your unfortunate mule with it until you were too exhausted to continue the outrageous performance. It doesn't seem possible for you to explain away such testimony."

"Yes, it is possible," said the prisoner, cheerfully. "I could fill this courtroom with witnesses who would convince Your Honor that my conduct was perfectly natural and proper, and that the mule was only getting what was coming to it."

"That's the most annoying mule in the United States, judge, and all my neighbors know it, and they're always wondering why I don't feed him a stick of dynamite or carry him with an ax."

"It's all very well for a policeman to come along and see me rebuking that animal and then jump at conclusions, but that policeman never had to wrestle with such a mule."

"I was coming to town this morning with a spring wagon loaded with vegetables and real eggs and other produce. I got as far as the railway track. There was a train coming about a quarter of a mile away, and I thought I had oceans of time to get across. Well, that mule crossed the track, and then stopped short with the wagon right on the rail, and deliberately waited for the train to come and smash things."

"I did everything a man could do to get him started, but you might as well argue with a rhinoceros as to try to do anything with that mule. He just stood there, all braced for the shock, and the locomotive caught that wagon amidships, and the way my cabbage and butter and eggs soared around the neighborhood was a sight. I'll bet that people half a mile away from there were shoveling scrambled eggs on their roofs all morning."

"Hell go along for weeks and months together, as moral and law-abiding as any mule. In the United States, waiting for a chance to make a killing. He never flitters away his energies on small meannesses. He doesn't kick or bite, like ordinary mean mules. He just bides his time till he can cause a regular blamed cataclysm and then he lets go all bolts and knocks things upside down."

"Last Fall my sister was visiting me. She's quite a corpulent lady, weighing about 300, but she's spry and takes lots of exercise, hoping to keep her weight down. Well, she saw me whanging around the place with that old mule and took it for granted that the beast was as safe as a wooden horse."

"So one day when I was away from home my sister Agnes dug up an old sidesaddle and strapped it on that mule and climbed aboard, expecting to amble quietly along and enjoy the scenery and fresh air."

"Well, a session like that was pie to that mule. He hadn't had such an opportunity in years. He frolicked around the yards, brushing up against every building and finally ran under a wire clothesline, and the line caught my sister under her chin and hoisted her clear out of the saddle, and when she hit the ground a lot of crockery fell off the shelves in the pantry of my house, a hundred yards away."

"You don't need to," interrupted the judge. "You are discharged. I owned a mule myself once."

Unreliable.

The Right Rev. John Hazen White, Bishop of Northern Indiana, was talking with a former Indiana man who mentioned a mutual acquaintance in Michigan City, and remarked: "Will was always a nice chap, but I never considered him altogether truthful."

The Bishop's eyes twinkled. "Not altogether, I'm afraid," he said. "Will was this sort of a chap, in that respect; if I ever met him on the street and he'd tell me I was looking well, I'd go to the nearest drug store and telephone for an ambulance."

A Joke on the Bishop.

The Archbishop of Canterbury is known among his friends as especially partial to two things, children and jokes, and is rather fond of telling the following story against himself:

As bishop of London he was one day walking in the suburbs of the British capital when he chanced upon a little girl who was standing looking up somewhat wistfully at a four-barred gate. "Oh, please, sir," she asked, "will you open this gate for me?"

Smiling upon the demure maiden, the bishop lifted the latch and pushed back the gate, but, in spite of its size, it swung so easily that he said, "You're such a big little girl that I should think you could yourself have opened so nice a gate as this."

"Oh, I could, sir," she replied, "but then I should have got my hands all over fresh paint." And then the bishop saw that was just what had happened to him.—Cosmopolitan Magazine.

SAVED CHILD FROM DEATH.

"After our child had suffered from severe bronchial trouble for a year," wrote G. T. Richardson, of Richardson's Mills, Ala., "we feared it had consumption. It had a bad cough all the time. We tried many remedies without avail, and doctor's medicine seemed as useless. Finally we tried Dr. King's New Discovery, and are pleased to say that one bottle effected a complete cure, and our child is again strong and healthy." For coughs, colds, hoarseness, laryngitis, asthma, croup and sore lungs, its most infallible remedy that's made. Price 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free. Guaranteed by Blackmer & Tanquary.

THE ELUSIVE BRIBE.

When will this pursuit of bribery—the bribe givers and the bribe takers—stop?

In almost every section of the country public men, without regard to party affiliation, without apparent stopping to calculate the effect upon their own political chances or the effect upon their party, are going pell mell after graft and crookedness, no matter what its form.

The least suspicion is enough to start the chase in earnest. Now days men do not wait for crookedness in public affairs to come to their attention in such a manner that they cannot dodge the recognition of it, but they go out on the hunt for it. They seek it earnestly and honestly in every place where they think it might be, really hoping to uncover something crooked in order that they may expose it and claim the applause of a gratified people.

The pursuit of graft has really become the prevailing custom now, and the old timers are quite beside themselves waiting for the storm to blow over.

The politicians and the business men who so long believed and acted upon the theory that graft was the all powerful agency for the accomplishment of desires in legislative matters have seen the first gentle breeze of reform make its appearance, have seen that gentle breeze fanned into a hurricane which swept all before it, by "agitators" and, wonder of wonders to them, have seen that storm refuse to abate, but on the contrary cover more territory daily, grow more furious in its assaults on the places of corruption.

Wonderful changes have taken place in this nation in the last decade and changes which are permanent, not transitory, have settled down upon the people.

When will it end?

Never, because it is right. It is the wholesome normal condition of a patriotic honest people.

The reign of graft was the unnatural condition—the one which must pass away—the one which must end and which has ended.

The time has come in this country when public servants can no longer trust each other to be dishonest and that means the end of boodle in public affairs.

Some of the servants of the old masters declare that public officials nowadays make political capital out of the exposure of graft.

Quite likely that they do, and if they do, it is the very best kind of campaign material and should redound to the lasting benefit of those who campaign on that platform.

The exposure of graft depends for its success, in a great measure on the temper of the people and their servants. It is elusive and extremely difficult of positive proof.

Circumstantial evidence is often the only means of establishing its existence.

For years the knowledge of the corrupt use of money in politics has been easy to deny and forcing that knowledge upon an unwilling public or official has been next to impossible.

Conditions in that regard are not different now from those which have obtained for years back. The main difference which has brought about the present state of affairs is found in the disposition of the people.

Proof which is wholly satisfactory now would have fallen on deaf ears a decade back. Then the great jury composed of public and officials did not want to know, while now they are willing and anxious to be convinced.

The reform has really taken place with the people who have made up their minds to have a better condition of affairs. They are willing to hear and heed the evidence which is adduced by honest men.

This storm is not going to blow over, because it is not a storm, but the normal condition of an honest people and an honest nation.

We are not having a spasm, but have just recovered from one.

The Shining Morning Smile

is a trade winner. Try it. But man cannot live by morning trade alone. Therefore the smile should stay on the job all day. And not only should the merchant's face smile, but his store front, likewise his town. To make a store front smile keep it clean. Have a bright and attractive display in the window. If the merchant smiles and his store front smiles the customer will smile, and everybody will be happy. To make a town smile clean the streets and have attractive buildings and lawns.

Prosperity smiles while Failure has a frown.

Smile, smile, smile! Get the habit!

POETRY FOR TODAY

MONUMENTS.

In a great heap of dust some crumbled stones,
And here a skull, and there some dead man's bones, Huge shattered plinths of marble that had been Rolled to the earth in some convulsive din,
Marked where a tomb and monument had stood
To tell of some forgotten conqueror's good Time's teeth had gnawed the name it bore away,
And even the year was lost, and none could say,
Except that here in olden times it rose
To mark some triumph over a warrior's foes,
Or monarch's splendor; but all now forgot,
In dust and dreams he shared the common lot.

Not far away a low green mound reclined
Beneath a willow, and with roses twined
In living freshness, as if yesterday
Some one had passed along that quiet way
And placed them there. The grave was neatly kept,
And round its sward the grass was cleanly swept.
No towering shaft to mark it sought the skies,
But a plain slab of lowly girth and guise.
On whose white face in letters clear and bright
All eyes could read the legend of the light—
"Here sleeps a man, mark well where'er ye wend Who wore no crown, but was the People's Friend!"

Taking Him Down.
George Grossmith had had remarkable success with his readings in America and on his return to England somewhat boastfully compared the art of entertaining with that of acting. "You fellows," he said to Charles Brookfield, "have to take out scenery properties, plays and a large company, when you want to perform, while I—look at me. I landed in New York with just my piano and a dress suit, and I made £20,000."
"I dare say," snapped Brookfield. "But we don't all look so—funny in our dress suits as you do in yours."

Part of the Preparation.
One of Lady Beay's recollections is of a dinner party at which she had for her neighbor Gladstone. In happiest mood he told her of his Eton experiences and tales of terrible little Dr. Keate. The latter always had the names of those doomed to be flogged written down on a narrow slip of paper. One day, picking up such a list, he called up for flogging the boys whose names were inscribed upon it. Upon such occasions the delinquents were not permitted to offer explanations, so boy after boy was castigated and returned sore and savage to his seat. Not until the operation was complete did Dr. Keate learn that, instead of the flogging list, he had picked up the slip on which were the names of the boys about to be confirmed.

Failed in an Emergency.
The man who said he did not see what good his life insurance would do him until he was dead must have been a hopeless object for the suave attack of the agent. Like him is the farmer of a Fifehire village of whom a London paper tells.
He had been advised from time to time to insure his house against fire. The agent, Sandy McLeary, could never get the old man to sign and was forced to listen to the familiar argument that "his house would never gang on fire."
The unexpected happened, however.

Bebels Continue Warlike Activity

Keep People of Durango In Constant State of Terror.

El Paso, Tex., May 2.—The peace conference will open some time this week. Judge Francisco Carbajal, the federal commissioner, is expected here today.
Conditions in the vicinity of Torreon, Durango, are serious. Luis Mora and his rebels hold the country practically at their mercy outside the city of Torreon, which the federals hold.
Torreon is cut off from all railroad communication in the republic except to Mexico City. All telegraph wires are down.
The municipal palace in Lerdo was burned the archives being destroyed and the prisoners liberated.
The destruction of the palace was complete.

Ready To Quit Office of President?

Diaz and Limanour Will Resign
When Peace Is Restored.
Mexico City, May 2.—It is stated here on high authority that it is the intention of both President Diaz and Minister Limanour to resign office immediately if a peace treaty is signed with the rebels. Furthermore, they will sever all connection with the government. Although the interests have stated several times that an essential condition to peace is the resignation of General Diaz, it is understood that the resignations will be entirely voluntary.

Death List Grows.
Easton, Pa., May 2.—Inquiries relative to missing persons leads to the belief that four more persons lost their lives in the wreck of the Utica (N. Y.) teachers' excursion train here making the total death toll 13 instead of 11.

Chicago, May 2.—Secretary of the Treasury Franklin MacVeagh was sued for $100,000 by Charles F.
Leach, formerly collector of customs for the port of Cleveland, O., whom MacVeagh removed from office. Leach charges that he was libeled by Mac-Veagh's statements made in justifying Leach's removal from office.
Leach charges that MacVeagh declared Leach had permitted goods on which duties were due to be removed from the Cleveland customs house without the payment of the proper duties. These statements Leach charges were libelous.

I never at any time authorized Nye to make such a statement."
The anger of the speaker was even greater when the detectives told him that Nye made statements about him that are not even mentionable and that impugned his character in the worst way.

Send Them to Penitentiary.
Columbus, O., May 2.—"We want to send every legislator who has accepted a bribe or solicited a bribe to the penitentiary," said Attorney General Hogan. "A legislative probe will enable every man connected with the charges to take an immunity bath and that is just what we want to prevent. I want the people of Ohio to see that Democratic state officials will not try to shield dishonest Democratic legislators."

Deny Their Guilt.
Columbus, O., May 2.—Senator L.
R. Andrews of Ironton, whose name has been used in connection with the bribery charges, made emphatic denial of the charges. Senator Cetone of Montgomery county and Senator Huffman of Butler county, whose names have also been mentioned by Hogan, denied in connection with the legislative bribery scandal, gave out statements declaring themselves to be innocent of the charges.

Governor Counts Bribe Money.
Columbus, O., May 2.—Governor
Harrison, in the presence of Speaker Vining in the latter's office, opened the envelope which contained the $200 that Representative Nye of Pike county says he received from the Burns detectives at a time when he believed them to be corrupt lobbyists. The governor counted the money, and then put it back in the envelope and deposited it in Clerk Kempel's safe.

Hogan to Help Turner.
Columbus, O., May 2.—In the senate Mr. Green of Coshocton introduced a joint resolution directing the attorney general to assist the Franklin county prosecuting attorney in the bribery investigation. It was passed and then rushed over to the house, where it also passed.

Brigand Tactics Are Continued

Chinese Troops Powerless to Suppress Revolt.

Hongkong, May 2.—Rebellion, brigandage and anarchy are stalking
through the western half of Kwang Tung province, murdering, pillaging and burning.
The loyal troops are fighting desperately to crush the uprising, the seriousness of which is revealed in further dispatches from Canton.
The rebel forces have thrown themselves with fanatical disregard of their own lives against the troops, and since the first outbreak much blood has been shed. Sedition is rife among certain of the troops and it is feared that the disaffected soldiers will desert their officers if the revolt-ers appear to have the upper hand.

FAYETTE COUNTIAN BEMOANS HIS FATE

Settled in Gulf Coast Country of Texas.
Only to Meet With Bitter Disappointment---Says Southerners Are Getting Rich Off of the Steady Stream of "Snow Diggers," as They Call the Northerners.

About a year ago a well-to-do resident of this county "pulled up stakes" and journeyed to the city of Houston, Texas, to pass the remainder of his days in "a land of promise." Things went well for a little time, during which our erstwhile neighbor seems to have cut a few dozen "eye-teeth". Now he is full to overflowing and can hold his tongue no longer. Writing to this office under date of April 28, he says:

"The worst mistake I have made was to come to this d--d state. Can't raise wheat, or oats, or clover, or timothy, or fruit of any kind, in this section of the state. We raise a little rice when we can get water to cover the ground, as it grows in water. After 3 or 4 crops the ground sours and then has to rest 4 to 8 years ere you can raise anything. Orange and fig trees were all killed in February. Oh such desolation. As far as I am concerned I would not give Fayette county for all the state of Texas. Some parts of it, away 200 to 400 miles northwest, they do raise cotton and some wheat, but not in the 'Gulf Region' they brag so much about. You can't shove a spade down 2 inches in the ground here--too hard. I weigh over 220 and I can't in some places shove down that far with all my weight. They are building big buildings here with money they make of the 'Snow Diggers' as they call the northern people. I think that if you give over one dollar an acre for this land, to farm then you pay too much. I am not a kicker--just telling the plain unvarnished truth. If you should quote me, do not print my name--tell any one who wants to know that I hope to get out of here between now and Christmas, when I will fly north to live. Yours in disgust for Texas.

Country is pretty to look at--that's all."

Horse Trainer Badly Injured

Fred Smith, a horse trainer at the Fair Grounds, nearly met death Monday just before noon, when a horse kicked him, breaking his collar bone, and severely bruising him, and causing him to remain in a dazed condition for some little time.

The steel shod hoofs of the horse barely missed Smith's head, and if they had struck him in the forehead, death would have followed. Dr. Howell was called and dressed the wounds.

Supreme Court Refuses To Hear Scott Case

Special to Herald.

Columbus, May 2.—The Supreme Court of Ohio has rejected the application of Steve Scott to prosecute his case to that tribunal. Scott was found guilty of the murder of Giuseppe Casamento of Troy, and he is condemned to die by electrocution on June 23.

First Corn Now Being Planted

Homer Stewart, near Bunker Hill school house on the Snow Hill pike, is planting corn. This is the first corn planted the present season, so far as known.

Mr. Stewart commenced planting last week, and the first corn has sprouted and will soon be breaking through the ground if favorable weather continues.

"Good Roads" Magazine Published

Hon. Jesse Taylor, of Jamestown, has started a new publication known as "Better Roads." This magazine has just made its appearance and judging from the character of the first two numbers, it has come to stay. It is a magazine publication of about 100 pages and is brim full of interesting and valuable information and comments on the "Good Road" proposition which is now considered among the most important questions of the day.

Mr. Taylor, the editor of the magazine, has for a number of years been interested in good roads and he has done much toward creating a public sentiment in the State favoring road improvement. As secretary of the Ohio Good Roads Federation he has lectured on this topic throughout the State. Now with the aid of a monthly publication behind him he hopes to do better and quicker work in securing legislation that will provide for systematic road improvement.

Persons interested in road improvement should read "Better Roads."

Colt Sells for $1000

The Greene county pacing colt, Wayne Elder, 2:23 3/4, by Box Elder, Jr., 2:16 1/2, has been sold by John Galvin, editor of the Jamestown Horse Journal, now located at Lima, to John Porter, a prominent horseman, of Saskatoon, Sask., Canada. The sale was made Monday in Xenia and the colt shipped out of Xenia for his new home in Canada.

Mr. Porter first heard of the colt last summer when, a three year old, he took a race record of 2:23 3/4 in the second heat of a four heat race, which he won at Jamestown. In the fall the colt showed even better form when he forced the unbeaten three year old, "The Possum" to step a mile in 2:16 1/4. In the race with "The Possum," Wayne Elder was second by less than a head and stepped the last quarter in 31 seconds.

Bense Act Knocked Out By Courts

Special to Herald.

Columbus, O., May 2.—The Darke County Circuit Court has knocked out the Bense act under which the State Board of Health has power to order cities to put in filtration and sewerage disposal plants. The courts hold the act unconstitutional. State Health officers say the case will be carried to the Supreme Court.

County Board of Revision Organized

Monday afternoon the County Board of Equalization, consisting of Commissioners Ad. Hays, Steve Phillips and John Jones, County Auditor A. C. Henkle and County Surveyor Tom Grove, met and reorganized in to the County Board of Revision, which will have charge of all complaints made against the valuation of property throughout the county.

Commissioner Ad. Hays was chosen chairman of the newly organized Board, and, as no business can be transacted until the County Auditor completes the addition of the new values placed by the State Tax Commission, the Board adjourned to meet at call of chairman.

The County Board of Revision will take up all complaints made previous to April 15th, and if a reduction is made in one piece of property, the valuation of some other property must be increased correspondingly, and the owner of such property as the Board may determine to increase the valuation, must receive ten days' notice of the Board's intention.

As soon as Auditor Henkle ascertains the new valuations and has the figures ready, the Board of Revision will be called into session.

Hand Improvement

Rough, cracked hands are not only unpleasant and annoying, but create a bad impression on those who see them. It's easy to keep the hands in good condition, if you use MANOLINE. Try using it morning and evening after bathing and while the skin is damp, note the pleasing sensation to the skin, and the early marked improvement.

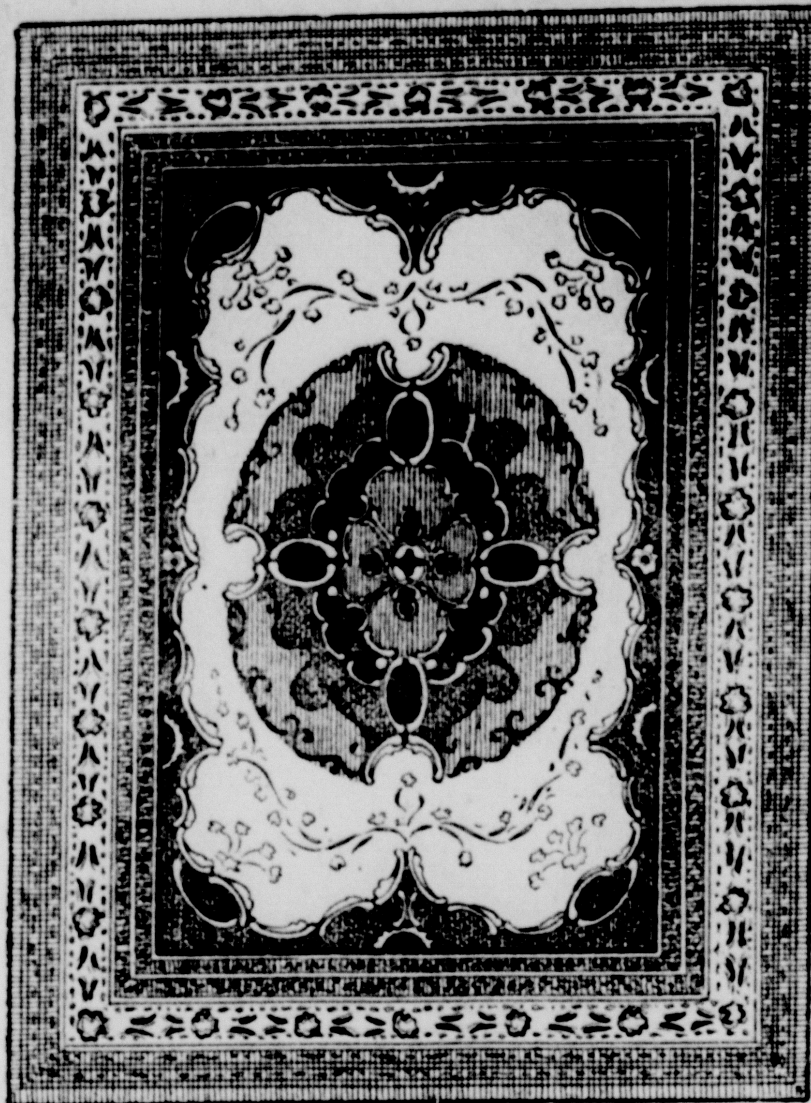

Confidence in it's merit, gives the guarantee that if MANOLINE is not absolutely in every respect as guaranteed, you can get your money back. Costs 25c. the tube, instead of One or Two Dollars.

No. Never. Its foolish to fear a fancied evil, when there are real and deadly perils to guard against in swamps and marshes, bayous, and lowlands. But Electric Bitters destroys and casts out these vicious germs from the blood. "Three bottles drove all the malaria from my system," wrote Wm. Fretwell, of Lucama, N. GOOD FARM GATE EASILY ERECTED

Take board strips one inch thick, three inches broad and the proper length and width you want your gate, nail them across each other as shown in the illustration, making about three inch cracks.

Then take the same size and width pieces and double the crosses, nailing securely. A half pound of No. 8 nails will do the work.

Use ordinary light hinges. Use seven cross pieces, and then by doubling these, which is absolutely necessary, you will have to use fourteen, with four pieces lengthwise, making a total of eighteen pieces. This makes a cheap and very durable gate. In making the latch, use any convenient method.

Improvement of Dairy Herds

Every farmer is interested in his herd of dairy cows because of the money the cows bring him. Very few farmers, however, have any knowledge of what their cows are doing. Most of the farmers judge of the quality of their cows from the amount of milk each one gives. If she gives a large mass of milk she is usually "the best cow on the farm," and if a small mass she is not a "very good cow." This is an unscientific way of judging of the individual cow of the herd. To help farmers upon a higher plane of dairying has been a study of the Minnesota Department of Agriculture for several years. Through a long series of experiments the department has found that the testing of individual cows, weighing their milk and testing it is practical and necessary if one is to breed up his herd intelligently. The department now recommends the organization of co-operative cow testing associations in any neighborhood where a sufficient number of cows is kept. This is not a hard matter to do. Let fifteen or twenty farmers join together in a neighborly way and sign an agreement to stand by each other for a year, agreeing to pay $1.00 or a $1.50 per year per cow for some one who shall make it his duty to appear at each farm once a month for a year, at milking time, see the cows milked, weigh their milk, test it, and make a record of each cow's work and leave it with her owner. In this way a practical man thoroughly acquainted with the work can be employed to give his experience to the dairyman at so low a cost as to make his employment a necessity to every owner of a considerable number of cows. Some may say they can't afford the cost. A few non-paying cows will in a year cost more than the expense of having the herd tested for a similar period. If a cow isn't worth the feed and care she requires the farmer should know it. If she is a paying cow he should know it and breed her to a sire of pronounced qualities and build up his herd to a standard of excellence and profit. Good dairy cows are seldom in the market. Poor ones are a rule do not sell such cows, but so they sell at an exorbitant price. Few farmers can afford to pay for the really practical and economical way to get a paying herd is to breed up to it from sties of such excellence as to leave no question as to the dairy merit of their offspring, beginning with the best cows in the herd as mothers and discarding those of inferior quality.

The tester can visit one herd one day and then the farmer can take him to the next, and so on until he has gone the rounds of the neighborhood once each month. At the end of the year each farmer will have a record showing a losing or winning game on the part of each cow, besides having been educated in various branches of the industry. A limited number of cow testing associations have been organized in Minnesota and the farmers are pleased with the results.

A chemist farmer living at Oradell Heights, N. J., invented a process for manufacturing eggs. He discovered the component of a natural egg—the milk, albumin and phosphorus and all the rest, but when he mixed them together there was an explosion that blew all of the windows out of his house and burned off his whiskers.

BE SURE AND TEST YOUR SEED CORN

The climatic conditions which prevailed during the last weeks, last summer, while the corn crop was ripening were such that, despite the great size of the crop, it is found difficult to secure seed corn in sufficient quantities, the germinating power of which can be relied upon. Seedsmen and farmers are having the same experience.

It becomes every farmer, then, who expects a fair crop of corn next fall, to exercise unusual care in the testing of his seed. He should not only select the most promising ears, but should test it ear by ear. He will very probably be surprised at the number of ears he will have to reject as non-germinating. He may even find that he cannot, from his own selected ears, get a sufficiency of reliable seed. But there should be no foolish "risking it" in planting without testing. Better undergo a large amount of trouble and save much expense, than invite failure of the crop by planting at a venture. It is dealing with just such emergencies as this that the "new farming" proves its superiority to the old.

RHEUMATISM IN PIGS

Rheumatism is commonly caused by allowing hogs to sleep in damp, filthy and improperly ventilated quarters. The system of ventilation should be such that there will be no direct currents of air striking the animals. The sun should have free access to the houses at all times. This will keep the sleeping quarters in a dry, sanitary condition.

When affected with rheumatism, the animals generally become unthrifty, and fail to make proper use of their feed, the appetite becomes dull which gives rise to the rough, scraggy coat. Prevention should be the first aim of the owner, and to accomplish this, the yards, pastures and houses should be made dry and clean. Damp bedding and cold floors should be avoided. If the hog house has a cement floor, false wooden floors should be provided, especially in the sleeping apartment of the building.

Other treatment is of little avail if comfortable sanitary quarters are not provided.

Lime In Oyster Shells

The oyster shell theory is a fact. One pound of shells contains sufficient lime to manufacture about seven dozens of eggs. The only proper way to feed them is to have a small box within reach so the fowls can help themselves at will. Mixing the shells in the morning mash is a risky job, as a fowl is apt to thus consume more than she will need, and the shells of the egg become too hard.

A new toasting fork is made of aluminum with a long enough handle to warrant the cook's not becoming burned by getting too close to the fire. This is the lightest sort of kitchen ware, and easily kept clean, needing no scouring, but simply a washing in hot water.

DON'T MISTREAT "BROODY" HENS

Many people resent the attempt of Biddy to set. Seemingly overlooking the fact that it is the nature of the bird and not her wilful desire to do something her owner does not want done. A hen cannot help becoming broody any more than a man can help being hungry without eating.

It is useless cruelty to douse a broody hen in cold water or place her in a coop with a floor made of slats through which she is constantly falling, or to confine her in a close, dark coop. None of these things are necessary. Of course, if it is not desirable to have the hen set at a certain time she must be carried over the period when nature drives her to it, but as a good sifter is always valuable to the breeder she should be treated with kindness.

A good way to discourage a broody hen is to place her with others in a not too roomy coop with a slatted front where she can see the other chickens scratching and running about. She should be fed sparingly because at this time her appetite is greatly reduced. If she is fed once a day it will be sufficient, but her feed should increase to keep pace with her appetite.

Of course no two hens are exactly alike, nor can specific treatment be accorded to each individual. This being the case, it would be good sense to treat all alike and with uniform kindness, keeping in mind always her valuable qualities and her good condition when she is wanted to rear a family.

Troubles of Uplift Club

"I CAME over to borrow three volumes of your encyclopedia," said Mrs. Cumbuck, apologetically. "I'm sure I hate to come over borrowing so often, but it seems as though everything in our house has been mislaid just when I need it most."

"I have to read a paper on pre-Raphaelite art at the next meeting of our Uplift Club and I'm trying to find out what kind of art that is, and, of course, somebody has borrowed our encyclopedia and I haven't time to go down to the public library."

"I thought when I joined that club that the proceedings would be of some benefit to us all, and they were at first, until Mrs. Wiggleshaw forced herself into the presidency, and ever since she went into office we have been studying the silliest things!"

Mrs. Wiggleshaw is one of the most disagreeable women I ever saw, and if she's connected with the club next year I'll be counted out.

"She has cold, fishy eyes, and she's always staring at you with them and she gives you the creeps. Whenever I stand up to read a paper at the club she fixes her eyes on me and I feel just as though somebody had turned the garden hose on me, and I get so nervous that I just have to quit reading and sit down and cry."

"She gives us subjects to write on and she always picks out the hardest for me, having a grudge against me ever since I accused her of poisoning our Angora cat."

"She says she didn't do it, but I have the evidence of neighbors who saw her coaxing the poor creature into her house, and the next day I found the cat dead. She bought fulminate of polash or some other drug at Binger's drug store."

"Tom Wilkerson works at Binger's and he's been going with Mrs. Grabby's niece for a long time, and he told that girl all about it and she told Mrs. Grabby and Mrs. Grabby told Mrs. Goodman and she told her husband and her husband is a great friend of Mr. Cumbuck's and told him all about it, so you see the story came to me straight and there can't be any doubts of its truth."

"Oh, you may smile, Mrs. Wagstaff, but that's because you never owned an Angora cat, and so you don't realize how attached one gets to such a pet. It was like losing a member of the family when that cat died, and to think that it was poisoned by that Mrs. Wiggleshaw, with her clammy eyes and her big yellow teeth!"

"I don't pretend to know anything about art, and so she's always giving me art as a subject for papers. At the last meeting I had to read a paper on Greek art as imitated by the Romans, and I couldn't find a thing about it in the encyclopedia, and I asked my husband what it meant.

"He said that Greco-Roman art meant two shoulders to the floor and no hold below the waist, and asked me to interview Zbarsko or Mahmoud for further particulars, and went on talking a lot of rubbish about catches-catch-can art being immeasurably superior."

"That's all the sympathy a woman ever gets from her husband when she is trying to improve her mind."

"When Mrs. Toplady was president of our club there was some sense in the proceedings, for we didn't read the papers at all, but just sat around and had a pleasant time, and the hostess always served refreshments, and we had a piano solo or a violin and harp duet, or something like that, and there was no woman built like a step-ladder to look at you like a ghost in a graveyard and freeze the blood in your veins."

"So now, if you will get me those volumes I'll go home and get to work on that paper."

Egg Dish.

A delightful way of serving eggs is the following: Put a tablespoonful of melted butter in bottom of baking dish and let it run over the entire surface. Then turn in as many eggs as there are diners without breaking the yolks, cover them with water, thin slices of Swiss cheese, sprinkle with pepper and salt, then turn in about half a cupful of cream and sprinkle top with breadcrumbs. Bake in oven until the eggs are set and cheese melted. American cheese may be used in place of Swiss.

Soft Ginger Bread

One-half cup of sugar, one cup of molasses, one-half cup of butter, one teaspoonful of ginger and one of cinnamon, two teaspoonfuls of soda dissolved in one cup of boiling water, two and one-half cups of flour, add to well beaten eggs last thing before baking.

REPORT SHOWS MANY SUICIDES IN OLD VENICE

Majority of 567 Victims
Use the Hanging
Route.

VIENNA—(Spl.)—Figures just published of the suicides during the past year show that the Viennese killed themselves at the rate of four a day—a total of 567, the highest ever recorded. In addition there were 891 attempted suicides.

The police have discovered the existence of four "suicide" clubs, the members of one of them being boys and girls. Of the successful suicides more than 100 were of children under 15 years of age.

The men suicides outnumber the women three to one. The majority of the victims of the mania for self destruction hanged themselves. The oldest victim was a man of 90, the youngest a boy of 12.

Love troubles were the motives for most of the suicides, and after these came family differences, mental disorders, sickness, poverty and general weariness of life.

The Salvation Army has been appealed to establish an anti-suicide bureau in Vienna as it has done in other cities, and the public school teachers have instructions to impress upon the children the wickedness and cowardice of self-destruction.

Hoodoo Chicken.

Mrs. Cal Remy, a thrifty housewife of this place, recently had an experience with some poultry which was unusual to say the least. One of her hens hatched a brood of chickens, all of which were white but one.

The hen attempted to kill the one black chicken and was prevented from doing so only by Mrs. Remy transferring the black chick to another hen. This hen, however, also had a brood of white chicks, and she objected to the black chick to the extent that she tried to kill it.

Finally Mrs. Remy took the dead black chick, more dead than alive, and placed it in a cage with a snary bird.

Here the chick was not molested, but was permitted to peep to its heart's content. The peeping, however, finally got on the nerves of the snary, and he has ceased to sing and makes no noise save that of peeping in imitation of his cage mate.—Indianapolis News.

Every woman thinks there is some man in the world who couldn't get along without her.

A TRAMP'S ONE CHANCE.

I am a tramp. I've always been a tramp, and I suppose I'll always be a tramp. I had a chance once to be something better, or supposed I had, but I didn't avail myself of it. The reason I didn't was because I could not. Anyway if I had succeeded in making a new start I doubt if I'd have kept up the effort. There are people fitted for statesmen, soldiers, business—professional men, sailors, roustabouts, servants and tramps. I was made for a tramp.

The chance I refer to was this: I was in my traveling carriage one day—I mean on the truck under a railway car—when I espied a paper that had been caught in a crevice. It looked like a bank bill, and its denomination appeared to be a dollar. I couldn't reach it till the train stopped, and I was afraid it would become detached before that. I was half an hour looking at it, wondering all the while how it got there. It had probably been dropped by some one, most likely at a station, had been sucked up when the train was in motion and got lodged in the crevice, the sides of which had been compressed from some cause or other to hold it.

As soon as the train came to a stop I reached for it. What was my astonishment to find that the "1" I had been looking at was followed by three noughts. I was the possessor of a thousand dollar bill. No sooner had I become conscious of my good fortune than I crumpled it in my fist and made for a field near the station at which the train had stopped. Seeing a barn, I went to it, climbed in to the mow and, reclining on the hay, thought what I should do with my find.

I spent a whole afternoon thinking. We tramps take a lot of pleasure in thinking, just as other people take pleasure in acting. The tramp to enjoy his profession should be a castle builder. The afternoon I spent conjuring up fortunes obtained with my thousand dollars was the happiest in my life. I would go to the city, buy out a little shop, be economical and industrious, enlarge my business, make money, invest it and in time become a multimillionaire.

It wouldn't do for one that all the world could see was a tramp to offer a thousand dollar bill for a railroad ticket. The agent couldn't change it if he would. So I tramped to the city. When I got there I thought the first thing for me to do would be to fix myself up. Going into a mammoth store where they sold clothing, I asked to see a suit about my size. The clerk went away and came back with a spick and span fellow—a sort of floor walker, I reckon—who hemmed and hawed and said that goods were only sold there for cash. I pulled out my bill and showed it to him, asking if he could change it. He looked at it dumfounded and said he'd see.

What I was suffering from most about that time was a vacant stomach. I went to a restaurant and took a seat at a table. None of the waiters came near me, but presently the proprietor did and asked me if I had not got into the wrong place. What could I do—ask him if he'd give me a meal on a thousand dollar bill? Not much. I told him I had thought the place a restaurant, but was mistaken, sorry I'd intruded. And I went out. Somehow I didn't see where I was going to begin. Besides I couldn't be an all-fired while finding out, for I had no place but the park to sleep in and not a crust to put in my life. You see, I wasn't used to city life. If I tried to buy out a shop or rent one and buy a stock of goods to put in it the moment I showed my bill the gentlemanly owner would ask me to sit down while he got the change and would telephone the police. I went about trying to get someone to give me a meal, but city servants are not used to beggars, except those who beg for money, and they all shut the door in my face.

Finally when I was nearly starved I struck a little house where my ring was answered by a girl about 19 years old. That girl was either a fool or she was altogether out of place in this world. I never struck such a green hue even in the country. She took me in and gave me what she had to eat, then sat down and talked to me, looking all the while out of her sympathetic eyes at me to cheer me up. She must have known that misery loves company. She told me that she was in love with a young fellow who wasn't getting along very well and was going to leave his position. Her employer wanted $1,000 in his business and was going to take in another clerk with that amount and make a partner of him.

"Is that all he wants?" I said. "Could you get married if your feller had $1,000?"

"Of course we could."

"Well, $1,000 isn't very much. I reckon I can spare you that in return for your meal and your kindness and confidence."

I pulled out my bill and gave it to her, and before her eyes got down from their big focus so as to see me I'd gone out and away.

In less than an hour I was in the country and at home, tramping, as I've always tramped, because that's the life that suits me. But I've had many a good time in a haymow thinking of the comfort my bill was to that grass-green girl.—Alexander Ellis.

Woman's World

Mrs. George Gould Tells
How to Rear Children.

MRS. GOULD AND LADY DECIES.

Opinions in regard to motherhood have been flying fast and furious. We have heard from an eminent expert of the United States and an eminent expert of Harvard, as well as from many less exalted personages. Probably no family is more widely known than the Goulds, and when Mrs. George Gould, who has successfully reared seven children of her own, consents to speak of her system and gives her opinions of a mother's duty they are worthy of serious consideration—a great deal more serious consideration than the opinion of any mere man, since she is not only a woman of exceptional intelligence, but is enabled to speak from practical experience. Mrs. Gould's family consists of Kingdon, Jay, Marjorie, now Mrs. Anthony J. Drexel, Jr.; Vivien, now Lady Decies; George J., Jr.; Edith and Gloria. The eldest, Kingdon, is twenty-three years of age, and the baby of the family is Gloria, who was born four years ago.

Briefly put, Mrs. Gould said, Motherhood is the most beautiful thing in a woman's life.

A woman secures greater pleasure from her children than from anything else.

Large families are good when parents are able to care for them, otherwise a pity.

She believes that children should be brought up in the country whenever possible, and they should have fresh air in copious quantities at all times.

Children should not be sent to school until they have grown to an age of understanding.

The early training of children by

☛ If you have $100.00, $200.00, $500.00, a $1000.00 or more, that you would invest where it would provide a maximum income immediately, this should interest you.

☛ The Case Crane Company of Columbus, Ohio, manufacturers of electric cranes and hoists, with lifting capacities from one to one hundred and fifty tons, is offering a limited amount of 7% First Mortgage 20-year Gold Bonds, in denominations of $500.00, and a limited amount of 7% cumulative preferred stock, non-taxable, in shares of $100.00 each, with interest and dividends payable quarterly.

☛ They have a large plant in full operation within ten minutes of the heart of the city, established in 1880, located on the Pennsylvania and B. & O. R. R. and they are supplying such companies as the United States Steel Corporation (Gary plant); The General Electric Company; The Republic Iron & Steel Company; Youngstown, Ohio; The Pennsylvania R. R.; The New York Central R. R.; and hundreds of others.

☛ Contrary to the usual plan, they are not going to one or a group of financiers, but are going direct to the private investor, believing that by having a great many stockholders in all walks of life, all over the country, directly interested in the Company, their prestige will be greater and their business accordingly increased.

☛ This is a safe investment. First, because the assets of the Company are more than double the authorized bond issue.

Second, because the Company is doing a large, profitable, and increasing business.

Third, because the profits from the sale of repair parts alone are sufficient to pay the interest on the authorized bond issue.

Fourth, because the business of the Company has never been affected by business depressions.

Fifth, because the demand for electric cranes manufactured by this Company is increasing daily.

there is when possible the very best. When tutors are not to be had mother and father should direct the training of children for the first ten or twelve years, and she believes a careful training in modern languages the very best basis of an education.

When the weather permits all study is done by her children out of doors. Outdoor exercise is as necessary as study.

She never permits any of her children when young to study for more than one hour at a time.

Exercise should be play. All her children except the youngest are skilled in almost every out of door game. All but baby swim and ride horseback every day in the summer.

All her children are started in the study of music, but are not forced to continue if they show they have no real liking for it.

Her boys are allowed to follow their own inclinations so far as training themselves for business life is concerned.

The same freedom of choice was given to the girls when they grew up. A mother should have children near her as much as possible.

A mother should supervise the dressing of her children. In the house none of her children is ever dressed too warmly. When they go out they always change into warmer clothing.

A mother should have a system in the rearing of her children, and she should rigidly adhere to it.

A home should be primarily for the children. It should be the dearest place in the memory in after years.

She thinks it good for children to have sisters and brothers of their own age that they may study and develop together.

A child's diet should be simple. Her one great rule above all others is to use common sense at all times.

How to Wear Earrings.

Earrings are being worn more than ever, but they do not necessitate the display of the whole ear, nor does the fashion mean that the lobes should be pierced. This should never be done. Boring the ears means that rings must be placed in them, and this means that the ear lobes will be pulled down and elongated until the ears lose their set shell semblance. Boring in these days is unnecessary, as earrings are held in place by invisible wires and tiny screws.

Many of the new earrings are revivals. The old designs worn by the gypsies are being adapted to modern requirements and handsomely jeweled. Diamonds and pearls are most often blended. Emeralds, sapphires, turquoise—indeed almost every kind of gem plays its part in the new earrings. The pendants to earrings grow longer. Black and pure white pearls are made up together, united by a chain of almost invisible fineness. These sort of earrings should be kept for full dress.

Coffee Bread

Three cups flour, one cup sugar, two tablespoons shortening, one of butter, and one of lard, one cup sweet milk, one and a half cups currants, one egg, three teaspoons baking powder, pinch of salt.

Mix as for biscuit, rubbing shortening and baking powder, sugar and salt into flour. Beat the egg and add to cup of sweet milk, then add to flour, stirring with heavy spoon. It will seem too stiff, but will rise light as biscuit in baking; one and a half cups of currants added to batter at last.

This makes two good sized loaves. After putting into pans cover top with bits of butter, a generous amount of powdered sugar and cinnamon. Bake in oven heated as for biscuit. squares, and again cutting partly through each square crosswise and inserting a small spreading of butter. This was served with coffee, citron, sweet pickles, coconut macaroons and mints.

Calla Lily Sponge Cake

Three fresh eggs beaten together, then add one tablespoonful of hot water; into this beat slowly one scant cup of granulated sugar. Add to the mixture one cup of sifted flour, one teaspoonful of baking powder, and one teaspoonful of vanilla, also a pinch of salt.

Drop the batter by scant teaspoonfuls into buttered tins, forming round, flat cakes, not touching one another. Bake quickly, but not brown, as they must be soft and pliable.

Press together from the outside while hot into the form of a lily. Fill the cavity thus formed just before serving with whipped sweetened cream, place a small piece of orange peel in the center of the cream for the stamen, and use a strip of Angelica for a stem.

This recipe will make 48 cakes, and served on a dessert plate to each guest with a cup of cocoa or coffee makes a delicious and artistic refreshment for an afternoon party.

Green Soup

One pint green split peas, one pint fresh green beans, one carrot, one medium sized potato cut into cubes, one large tablespoon butter, one tablespoon flour, one teaspoon of chopped olives (schnitzlauch), a little chopped parsley, pepper and salt to taste, water enough to make a moderately thick soup. Wash peas and put on fire in cold water with a pinch of soda.

When it boils pour off water and add fresh warm water. After one hour add beans and carrots cut in pieces. After half an hour add potatoes.

When latter are soft blend butter and flour over fire and add to soup. Then add seasoning. Boil up and serve with croutons if liked.

Building Hint

If you are planning to build be sure to have a dumb waiter arranged at the side of the fireplace. The wood may thus be brought up from the cellar without carrying through the room. The dumb waiter may be inclosed in a cupboard finished as the room is.

Apple Sauce

Make a rich syrup of one cup of sugar to a cup of water and cook apple quarters in this until they are tender. Flavor with both lemon juice and vanilla. The apples should absorb all the syrup.

Tuberculosis seems to be increasing in this country. It is estimated that about 19 per cent of the cows will react on applying the tuberculin test. Plenty of sunshine, pure air, sanitary stables and sound feed are the best preventatives of this disease.

The Willing Workers of the East End Chapel will have a Kensington at the home of Charles Barnes on East Temple street, Thursday afternoon. Admission 10c.
